

Home

Broker Training

Accreditation

Services

Become a Business Broker with Training from the American Business Brokers Association

Info for Sellers

For our article "What are Business Brokers and What Do They Do?" please click here.

Discussion

Speakers

If you're interested in becoming a business broker, be sure to check out the seminar offered by the ABBA. For more information, please select "Broker Training" from the menu.

If you are a current business broker, you may want to check out the advantages of becoming an Accredited Business Intermediary (ABI) of the American Business Brokers Association.

We proudly promote American business interests!

If you're considering selling your business, please click on "Info for Sellers" in the menu to order our complimentary booklet, "Selling a Business While Avoiding Costly Mistakes."

Also, please visit and join our discussion at LinkedIn Groups. This forum serves as a lively discussion of the issues and news in the business brokerage profession.

To view our blog, please visit "Critical Issues Involved in Buying or Selling a Business."

For the list of the 17 states requiring business brokers to be licensed as real estate agents, please click here.

To contact the ABBA, please email us here or call us at (251) 990-5934.

Home

Broker Training

Accreditation

Services

Info for Sellers

Discussion

Speakers

The following states require that business brokers be licensed by the state's real estate regulatory agency.

This list is subject to change and interested individuals are encouraged to check with local authorities.

Alaska
Arizona
California
Colorado
Florida
Georgia
Idaho
Illinois
Michigan
Minnesota
Nebraska
Nevada
Oregon
South Dakota
Utah
Wisconsin
Wyoming